Freshman Admission
Applicants for admission to Year 1 of the six-year medical program must first be accepted into UMKC. Admission is selective and is determined by a combination of class rank and ACT score, as well as completion of the following criteria:

The school strongly encourages prospective students to earn credit through Advanced Placement (AP) courses, if available, in math, English, European history or American history. If your high school does not offer biology, chemistry or foreign language, contact the Council on Selection at the School of Medicine at 816-235-1870 or write to: Council on Selection, UMKC School of Medicine, 2411 Holmes, Kansas City, Mo. 64108

- Submission of the Year 1 medical school application that includes a personal statement, activity sheet and letters of recommendation

Missouri Residents
The average accepted Missouri applicant has an ACT score of 29 and a rank within the top 10% of the graduating class

Regional and Out-of-State Residents
The average accepted regional or out-of-state applicant has an ACT score of 30 and a rank within the top 5% of the graduating class.

Applicants With Some College Credit
Students may apply after graduation from high school provided they have no more than 24 hours of post high school diploma college credit at the time their application is submitted to the Admissions Office. These applicants will be reviewed with the same criteria as other Year 1 applicants.

If the applicant is currently enrolled in college the semester they apply to the six-year program, the number of hours accumulated at the end of that semester must not exceed the 24-hour limit. Applicants may continue in college the next semester while their application is being processed.

Applicants must have a 3.0 GPA or higher for all college credit attempted or earned. Official college transcripts must be submitted along with other application materials. A current ACT test within the last three years is required.

Applicants with more than 24 hours of college credit may qualify as an M.D.-only applicant.

M.D.-Only Applicants
Positions may become available between the second and third year of the program. Applications will be considered from both in-state and out-of-state residents who hold at least a baccalaureate degree. A minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0 is required. M.D.-only students enter the School of Medicine and begin their curriculum in the spring semester of Year 2 of the program. The application deadline for January entry into the M.D.-only program is Aug. 1 of the preceding year.

A score of 24 or better on the MCAT is preferred. Based on the revised MCAT schedule effective January 2007, applicants are strongly encouraged to take the MCAT no later than June 15. Scores from later administrations may not be available in time to be considered for the following January admission.

Applicants must have a minimum of 19 hours of chemistry that includes two semesters of general chemistry, one semester of organic chemistry and one semester of biochemistry (a 300 or 400-level course with a grade of B or above is required). Human biochemistry recommended, as a 300-level course or above).

Students must also have a minimum of 14 hours of biology that includes one semester of general biology with lab, one semester of genetics and one semester of cell biology. M.D.-only applicants are also strongly encouraged to enroll in one semester of microbiology with lab and one semester of introductory anatomy with lab. Courses in physics and algebra/ calculus are also strongly encouraged.
New freshmen and transfer students with fewer than 24 hours of college-level coursework must complete this form.

Because of our obligation to ensure that patients receive the best medical care possible, certain abilities are required of our students. All students of medicine must possess those intellectual, emotional and physical capabilities which are necessary to participate fully in the curriculum and which are essential to achieve the levels of competence required by the faculty.

Candidates for the medical degree must be able to observe and perform a variety of procedures. Intact sensory and motor functioning is required for accurate observation and the competent performance of procedures. Candidates must be able to observe and evaluate a patient accurately, at a distance and close at hand. This necessitates the functional use of the senses of vision, hearing, touch and sometimes smell. A candidate must be able to communicate effectively, to hear and to observe patients in order to elicit information, describe changes in mood, activity and posture, and perceive nonverbal communications. The candidate must be able to communicate effectively in oral and written form. Candidates must have sufficient motor function to elicit information from patients by palpitation, auscultation, percussion and other diagnostic maneuvers.

Problem solving is a critical cognitive skill demanded of physicians, and it requires the intellectual abilities of measurement, calculation, reasoning, analysis and synthesis. In addition to these skills, a candidate must possess the high moral and ethical standards demanded of physicians and the emotional health required for full utilization of his or her intellectual abilities, the exercise of good judgment, the prompt completion of all responsibilities attendant to the diagnosis and care of patients, and the development of mature, sensitive and effective relationships with patients.

Because of the above essential functions, the School of Medicine strongly discourages the use of surrogates to perform these functions as a reasonable accommodation for persons with disabilities. While each application is reviewed individually, it is necessary that each degree candidate himself or herself be able to observe and perform each task required by the curriculum of the school. Similarly, the school does not consider the waiver of required examinations a reasonable accommodation for individuals with learning disabilities. Learning-disabled students, when appropriate,* may be granted additional time on required examinations, be examined in separate testing facilities or accommodated in other reasonable ways, but they will not be exempted from the requirement to take and pass such examinations.

The University of Missouri-Kansas City School of Medicine has a standing committee to review qualified applicants who are unable to meet the technical standards for admission as stated above. The entire application file will be formally reviewed by this standing committee of the Council on Selection in consultation with the UMKC Office of Disabled Student Services.

*Contact the UMKC Office of Disabled Student Services for information regarding definition and documentation of learning disabilities.

I have read and understand the above technical standards, and I hereby certify that I believe that I am able to meet these standards if I become a medical student at the University of Missouri-Kansas City School of Medicine.
